Erin Hogeboom: Thank you for sharing your Valentine's Day with us! Please introduce yourself in the chat and share if you have any special plans.

Bethany: Hello from Oregon - planning to treat myself to a workout and quite night at home with all my boys

Julia Betts: Greetings! My name is Julia Betts and I'm representing the Oregon chapter -. No Valentine's day plans, but we do have a youth Maker's club today that should be a lot of fun!

Karen Peterson: Hello everyone! Happy Valentine's Day!

Suzi Taylor, Montana: No special plans, but I'm sharing our MSU science valentines with everyone: <http://eu.montana.edu/valentines>

Leah Henry: Hi all! Leah Henry here from Children's Creativity Museum in California. Going out to an Italian dinner! :)

Barbara Jean Garza-UTRGV: Hi there! My name is Barbara and I am the with The University of Texas Rio Grande Valley! planning to cook a nice dinner at home tonight!

Jennifer Nguyen: Hi everyone! I'm a journalism graduate student at Columbia who's trying a master's thesis about gender/racial disparity in STEM and how communities are providing learning opportunities to underrepresented groups. My Valentine's Day plans included going to the courthouse for a school assignment (and I crashed the Law and Order: SVU set!). I have class tonight but will go out to dinner with my friends afterwards. Happy Valentine's Day, everyone!

Jennifer Nguyen: writing, not trying*

Karen Peterson: Welcome Jennifer!

Suzi Taylor, Montana: Welcome, Jennifer! Journalism students are the best :-)

Jennifer Nguyen: Thank you for having me!

Erin Hogeboom: So glad you can join, Jennifer!

Vanessa 2: lost sound

Suzi Taylor, Montana: me too

Julia Betts: ditto

Julia Betts: back up!

Kathy Thomas: I'm on the edge of my seat!

Erin Hogeboom: As Mary is speaking, if you have any questions or thoughts, please share them here!

Erin Hogeboom: This is a fantastic definition!

Suzi Taylor, Montana: Thank you - very interesting! I like the suggestion to think about where on each of those lines you identify

Esperanza Zenon: Esperanza here

Suzi Taylor, Montana: another I like to think about is rural-urban. People sometimes think those of us in rural areas are less open-minded

Erin Hogeboom: Hi Esperanza!

Esperanza Zenon: Sorry I was having issues with my Chromebook running Adobe Connect

Leah Henry: Thank you for all the info! We run professional development for our internship program at the museum, and I was wondering if you had suggestions on resources we may use in running a professional development workshop surrounding intersectionality, identity, or cultural humility?

Mary Fernandez: Kimberle Williams Crenshaw

Esperanza Zenon: no video or audio just chat

Leah Henry: Awesome! Thank you so much, that would be great

Leah Henry: Definitely!

Erin Hogeboom: No problem, Esperanza--I hope you get to watch the video!

Esperanza Zenon: Count me in

Esperanza Zenon: I can hear just can't talk to video

Esperanza Zenon: I will watch the video too

Julia Betts: Thank you!

Mary Fernandez: Thanks for being here!

Erin Hogeboom: Please type any questions or comments for Vanessa here!

Esperanza Zenon: You mentioned a sub or small group. I missed the part where you discussed the goal of the small group

Mary Fernandez: Has the slides advanced? Mine appear to be stalled

Erin Hogeboom: Now they are!

Mary Fernandez: Great presentation!

Leah Henry: Thank you for the wonderful presentation! I am running a Women in Space workshop in March, and I was wondering if you have any suggestions of women I should highlight!

Leah Henry: Female engineers, scientists, computer scientists, etc. Anyone is welcome to add suggestions of course!

Fatima: I am interested in that

Vanessa: vmvrobot@gmail.com

Erin Hogeboom: Yes! I love those!

Suzi Taylor, Montana: Leah, NASA Girls STEAM Ahead has a poster set and other resources <https://www.universe-of-learning.org/gstown/>

Erin Hogeboom: Suzi, your timing is perfect, we have an update about Girls STEAM Ahead!

Fatima: did she say black intellectuals on Facebook

Erin Hogeboom: Urban Intellectuals, Black History Flashcards: <https://store.urbanintellectuals.com/shop/black-history-flashcards-vol-1/?v=7516fd43adaa>

Mary Fernandez: Yes, that's those. Would love to have them for STEM

Mary Fernandez: Thank you Erin!

Leah Henry: Thank you, Suzi!

Fatima: Yes, I remember seeing them. thanks

Erin Hogeboom: ehogeboom@ngcproject.org

Mary Fernandez: Thank you!

Leah Henry: Thank you!

Jennifer Nguyen: Thank you, everyone!
