

NGCP Collaborative Leadership Teams
Community Meeting
Chat Transcript, May 9, 2018

Recording: <http://connectpro35337274.adobeconnect.com/pq1lvhh1alt3/>

Erin Hogeboom: Thank you for joining us! Please introduce yourself in the chat and let us know which Collaborative you are with.

Alberto Avalos: Alberto Avalos – Hispanic Heritage Foundation

Tiffani Cortez: Tiffani Cortez - Waco, TX

Jolene Gustafson: Hello! Jolene here from NGC/The Connector.

Tara Cox, The Franklin Institute: Tara Cox - The Franklin Institute, Philadelphia PA

Daisy Madrigal: Daisy Madrigal - Hispanic Heritage Foundation

Carol Tang: Carol from Children's Creativity Museum/California

Esperanza Zenon: Hello everybody

Karen Peterson: Hello everyone! So glad you are here today!

Sunshine Nance: Sunshine Nance | Georgia Girls STEM Collaborative

Andrea HM & Gina H: Hi! Andrea Herrera Moreno and Gina Higby from the Texas Girls Collaborative!

Erin Hogeboom: We love Hispanic Heritage Month! September 15th - October 15th

Erin Hogeboom: Trying to connect with your Latinx community? Connect with the Hispanic Heritage Foundation! <http://hispanicheritage.org/programs/leadership/>

Karen Peterson: Feel free to ask questions here.

Cindy ID: Cindy from Idaho

Andrea HM & Gina H: yes

Cindy ID: Is the LOFT network mentoring online?

Erin Hogeboom: Any questions on HHF or the Coding as a Second Language program?

Erin Hogeboom: Thanks Cindy! I'll field that question to Daisy.

Carol Tang: How do you select sites to host your events?

Alberto Avalos: Locations are primarily sponsor based; however, that has taken us from Los Angeles, New York, to Salt Lake City, UT, and Omaha Nebraska.

Alberto Avalos: If you send us an e-mail, we can absolutely keep you on our radar.

Alberto Avalos: alberto@hispanicheritage.org

Alberto Avalos: daisy@hispanicheritage.org

Carol Tang: Thank you! I will contact you. We are in SF so may have opportunities with sponsors. Thanks!

Erin Hogeboom: Feel free to type any questions for Tiffany here!

Erin Hogeboom: Feel free to share your reactions to Tiffany's presentation here as well (it doesn't have to be a question.)

Andrea HM & Gina H: Thanks for sharing!

Fatima Alleyne: I said the same thing.

Fatima Alleyne: would love for students to be a part of the design rebuild of our schools as part of this work

Erin Hogeboom: Oh interesting, Fatima! Tiffany, have you ever worked on school projects?

Erin Hogeboom: If anyone has any questions for Jenn, please feel free to type them here!

Fatima Alleyne: We have several schools that will be under construction soon and that would be a way to 1) gain student input, 2) expose them to field, 3) require partnership/mentorship or employment opportunities from vendors

Erin Hogeboom: That's a fantastic idea, Fatima! You could work with Tiffany (or search FabFems!) to find some potential mentors that you could bring into that partnership!

Erin Hogeboom: Jenn's blog post: <http://ngcproject.org/blog/the-right-mentor-at-the-right-time>

Esperanza Zenon: Today's webinar is very timely. I can use this information for my new non-profit

Jenn Behrens: Hello, all. Thank you for your interest - and I apologize for my allergy-induced, poorly-timed coughing!

Erin Hogeboom: ehogeboom@ngcproject.org

Jenn Behrens: My advancement in cybersecurity and privacy stemmed from my commitment (in my first career in social work) to maintaining the privacy of vulnerable population information

Carol Tang: CSforALL--maybe something about how we would distribute parent engagement talking points? (since there are existing resources about girls?)

Tiffany D. Brown: @fatima I'd love for my first 400Forward project to be a school

Tiffany D. Brown: tbrown@urbanartscollective.org

Carol Tang: thank you!

Andrea HM & Gina H: Thank you!

Esperanza Zenon: Y!

Carol Tang: bye!

Alberto Avalos: Thank you!